Introduction

Music at Paxton brings world-class chamber music to the remote rural communities of the Scottish Borders, also promoting the region as a tourist destination. Its mission is to enhance people's lives with inspiring programmes and the thrill of live performance, aiming to be accessible to the widest audience, ensuring that people of all ages and backgrounds feel welcome.

Music at Paxton wants to develop relationships with organisations that share these values.

Why sponsor Music at Paxton?

Your support will allow Music at Paxton to engage with a wider audience in the Scottish Borders, an area where there is little arts provision.

Music at Paxton aims to provide a positive return-on-investment (ROI) to sponsoring businesses, enhancing your brand profile and supporting your clients' passions.

Arts & Business Scotland match funding

The Scottish Government, via Creative Scotland, has made funding available to Arts & Business Scotland to encourage new business sponsorship of cultural activities within Scotland. This fund will match eligible sponsorships (both cash and in-kind) £ for £, from a minimum of £1,000 up to a maximum of £40,000.

About the Festival

Background

Established in response to local demand in 2006, Music at Paxton is a charitable organisation which produces an annual Chamber Music Festival each July in the tranquil setting of Paxton House in the Scottish Borders. The Festival has grown into a ten-day event, featuring international celebrity artists alongside emerging young talent and the best of the UK's established musicians, with audiences who travel from across Scotland, the North of England and beyond.

'...top quality chamber music in the most beautiful of surroundings...' The List

The venue - Paxton House

An 18th century Adam mansion, Paxton House overlooks the banks of the River Tweed. Full of treasures, the house is home to a magnificent collection of Chippendale and Trotter furniture, and boasts beautiful gardens, extensive woodland and riverside grounds. The main concerts are held in the stunning Picture Gallery, an intimate venue seating 140, the largest built for a private home in Scotland. With its wonderful acoustics, domed roof-light that lets in the summer sun and walls hung high with paintings from the National Galleries of Scotland's collection, it is an idyllic setting for chamber music.

'...music venues don't come more spectacular than this...' The Scotsman

Managing the Festival - personnel

Angus Smith (Artistic Director), is responsible for the artistic direction and programming of the Festival. An experienced performer, he is a founding member of the Orlando Consort, a group with an international reputation in the field of medieval and renaissance vocal music. He divides his time between touring with the Orlandos and programming for Music at Paxton and for Sheffield's award-winning Music in the Round series.

Elizabeth Macdonald (General Manager) is responsible for all financial, logistical and operational aspects of the Festival. A musician herself, she is an experienced freelance arts administrator, and has worked for varied organisations as artistic planner, concerts manager and artist agent, including Dunedin Consort, Edinburgh International Festival and conductor James Lowe. She is Managing Director of East Lothian based arts and events consultancy Anwyl Ford Ltd.

The Trust has a strong and independent board of trustees from both sides of the border, and enjoys the active support of a considerable body of Friends and volunteers.

'...an enthralling shared experience...' Seen and Heard International

Young artists

Working in partnership with Live Music Now Scotland and with local organisations, our mission is to present inter-generational family concerts with music specifically chosen to entertain younger and older audience members alike, which will be presented by our brilliant visiting professional musicians.

With the provision of music education in schools coming under increasing threat, Music at Paxton is determined to step up and play its part in ensuring that children and young people outside large towns and cities have a chance to experience the visceral thrill of hearing the highest quality music performed live.

Music at Paxton is seeking support from individuals or companies who share this vision, allowing the Festival to offer tickets at low prices to enable access for all.
